The National Pupil Database (NPD)

The NPD is owned and managed by the Department for Education and contains information about pupils in schools in England. It provides invaluable evidence on educational performance to inform independent research, as well as studies commissioned by the Department. It is held in electronic format for statistical purposes. This information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools, local authorities and awarding bodies.

Compton All Saints C of E Primary School

We are required by law, to provide information about our pupils to the DfE as part of statutory data collections such as the school census and early years' census. Organisations fighting or identifying crime may use their legal powers to contact DfE to request access to individual level information relevant to detecting that crime. Whilst numbers fluctuate slightly over time, DfE typically supplies data on around 600 pupils per year to the Home Office and roughly 1 per year to the Police.

We will not re-use any images or recordings after your child has left the school.

We will not use the personal details or full names (first name and surname) of any child or adult in a photographic image on video, on our website or in promotional material, without good reason. If a pupil is named in the text of a report we will not use a photograph of that pupil to accompany the article, without good reason.
